DAVID MARDEN,

NEW BOSTON, Feb. 23, 1881.

SCHOOL REPORT.

There is perhaps nothing that holds a brighter spot in the memory of the average young man reared in the country than the thought of the days he spent in the common school; and, as the common school is the limit of the school privileges of many of our boys and girls, we think that special attention should be given to the improvement of it. Then let every district be united in caring for the welfare of its school. By their united efforts the house and its surroundings can be greatly improved at a trifling expense. A motto or picture here and there, such as will tend to elevate the morals of the scholars, will brighten the cheerless aspect of bare walls and make a lasting impression on the minds of those compelled to sit within them.

There should be more books of reference and more maps. We are glad to see that what there are, are made good use of. Too little attention is given to the history of the United States, a subject with which every one of the rising generation should be familiar.

There have been twenty-two different teachers in town this school year, some of them having taught three successive terms, and in general have been successful, as the reports will show.

There have been sixty visits made to the schools by the Superintendent, and nearly four hundred by the parents and others interested. The number of children in town between the ages of five and fifteen was one hundred and eighty-nine, ninety-three males and ninety-six females. The number of children between the ages of five and fifteen not attending any school, ten.

The average attendance, on account of sickness in many districts, has not been as good as it otherwise would have been.

Deportment very good.

Districts Nos. 1 and 2 have not been under our superintendence.

DISTRICT No. 2.

ALFRED CAMPBELL, Prudential Committee.

Miss Sarah E. McLane, teacher of both summer and winter school. Miss McLane kept a good school. The classes in reading, United States history, and mathematics were thoroughly drilled.

DISTRICT No. 3.

J. Q. A. CALDWELL, Prudential Committee.

Fall term only, taught by Mrs. Mary W. Caldwell. This was Mrs. Caldwell's first attempt. More experience will doubtless improve her qualifications. As no notice of the close of this school was received until after its close, we cannot report thoroughly.

DISTRICT No. 4.

LEONARD W. MERRILL, Prudential Committee.

The summer term was taught by Miss Mary R. Merrill. On account of sickness in the district, the school was prematurely closed. No notice being received, we cannot report, though judging from our first visit it was necessarily a success. The winter term was taught by Miss Nettie E. Marden. The scholars showed good advancement in their studies. This was Miss Marden's first school. We think she bids fair to become one of our best teachers.

DISTRICT No. 5.

GEO. A. PRINCE, Prudential Committee.

Miss Maria A. Dodge, teacher during the summer term. Miss Dodge being an excellent teacher and a good disciplinarian, a profitable school was the result. The improvement in reading was especially noticeable. The winter term was taught by Miss Clara H. Blood. Miss Blood taught a good school and gave universal satisfaction throughout the district.

DISTRICT No. 6.

D. C. MCCOLLOM, Prudential Committee.

Both summer and winter terms were taught by Miss Annie I. Riley. Miss Riley is an active, energetic teacher, and has the interest of the school at heart. During the summer term the scholars made good advancement. At the first of the winter term we were well pleased with the aspect of the school, but the term had not yet closed when this was sent to press.

DISTRICT No. 7.

HERMAN PARKER, Prudential Committee.

Summer term taught by Miss Jennie F. White. At our first visit we found a chance for a great deal of improvement, which was accomplished to some extent. Fall term taught by Miss Lydia W. Dodge, which of itself is a sufficient warrant of a good school. Through mistake, on our part, only one visit was made to this school.

DISTRICT No. 8.

SOLOMON D. ATWOOD, Prudential Committee.

Primary School.—Summer, fall, and winter terms were taught by Miss Abbie S. Clarke. This school, under Miss Clarke's instruction, is now a model school. The full confidence and respect of the scholars, which in this instance the teacher held, could not fail to make it otherwise than a successful school.

Grammar School.—Summer, fall, and winter terms taught by Miss Dell E. Haines. The summer term of both the primary and grammar schools being shortened by sickness, the advancement was somewhat retarded. This school has risen from a comparatively low standard. It now stands among the first. Our attention was called particularly to a class in grammar, which would be an honor to any school.

DISTRICT No. 9.

SAMUEL BAKER, Prudential Committee.

Miss Mary A. Caldwell was teacher of both summer and fall terms. Miss C. has had experience in teaching. She began this school with the determination to do her best, having the interests of her scholars at heart. She did thorough work, deserving the full coöperation of the district, which, with a few exceptions, she had.

DISTRICT No. 10. (Union with Goffstown.)

GEORGE. E. ROBBINS, Prudential Committee.

Miss B. Josie Baker, teacher. Miss B. taught an excellent school. There are some scholars in this school which we are confident will make their mark in the world.

The money for this district was expended in the fall.

DISTRICT No. 11.

JOHN MCGINNESS, Prudential Committee.

Summer term was taught by Miss Annie L. Epps. This was Miss Epps's first attempt at teaching. The school was a success. Should she follow the occupation, we predict a first-class teacher. Fall term was taught by Miss Julette A. Eastman; a good teacher and a good school. Winter term was taught by Miss Mary E. McLane. Good improvement was the result. Miss McLane showed no partiality, which insured success at the outset.

DISTRICT NO. 12. (Union with Francestown.)

S. L. MARDEN, Prudential Committee.

Summer term was taught by Miss Fannie S. Cleaves. Although the school was small, the teacher, with her original and pleasing manner of teaching, made this an interesting, as well as profitable, school. Fall term taught by Miss Mary R. Merrill. During this term we were pleased to notice the manifest improvement, and the interest shown by the teacher. Miss Merrill as a teacher will rank with the best.

DISTRICT No. 13.

JACOB LANGDELL, Prudential Committee.

Summer term was taught by Miss Hattie A. Todd. The popular idea that a teacher cannot be successful in his or her own district, in this case was not correct, as the thoroughness in all the classes at the examination showed. Winter term taught by Hilliard L. Langdell. The scholars made very good advancement in their studies. Mr. Langdell is a teacher of some experience, and met with good success in the school.

DISTRICT No. 14.

JAMES M. WALDO, Prudential Committee.

Fall term was taught by Miss Hattie A. Todd. In this school Miss Todd met with her usual success. Winter term, for the first seven weeks, was taught by Miss Octavia E. Gould; but, being unable to finish it on account of ill health, the remaining five weeks were accomplished by John L. Burnham. Miss Gould is a quiet, earnest teacher, but this school needed a different kind of persuasion from hers. Mr. Burnham very successfully finished the term, and the examination showed that the term had not passed without good results.

DISTRICT No. 15.

MRS. DANIEL SMITH, Prudential Committee.

The summer term was taught by Miss Ida May Fox. This term, on account of sickness, was closed at the end of the fourth week. Fall term taught by same teacher. Miss Fox is one of our best teachers, and did credit to herself in this school. Not having visited at the close of the term, we cannot report fully.

DISTRICT No. 16.

EDWARD LANGDELL, Prudential Committee.

Summer term was taught by Miss Irene V. Eastman. Miss Eastman had taught in this district before, and was well calculated to do so again, which she did successfully. Winter term was taught by John L. Burnham. This was Mr. Burnham's first experience in teaching. The result was a good school and general satisfaction. Should Mr. B. follow the occupation of teacher, he will rank high.

Respectfully submitted.

GEO. L. TODD,
Superintendent.

NEW BOSTON CEMETERY.

REPORTS
OF THE
TRUSTEES AND SUPERINTENDENT
OF THE
NEW BOSTON CEMETERY,
FOR THE YEAR ENDING FEB. 22, 1881.

Fellow Citizens,—With profound gratitude for the exemption from increased sickness and death the past year, we present the report that the superintendent has furnished us of the interments and removals that have been made, and sincerely hope that, the year to come, our Heavenly Father may vouchsafe to us the same care and protection. Last year, “savans” and prophets seemed to be full of forebodings of terrible calamity and mortality that would sweep off a large number of the inhabitants of the earth. On the contrary, it was an unusually healthy year, and it is seldom that the mortality in our town has been so light. Again dire calamity and destruction are predicted for the year to come; but let us trust Him who is above the wisdom of man, and calmly enter upon the discharge of the duties that the year may bring to us, expecting that, in the course of nature, this one and that one who have moved among us, filling responsible places of usefulness and trust at home and in public, will be called away, admonishing us all to do well while life is given us.

We have nothing special beyond the report of the superintendent to present to you. Very much more interest in the purchase and care and embellishment of private lots manifests itself yearly, and a gradual removal from private yards to our town cemetery is being made. Circumstances beyond the control of the superintendent have rendered it impossible for him to accomplish some of the work that he intended ; and we hope that before another year we shall be able to bring water into the cemetery in such a manner as shall be a permanent benefit to the grounds. We feel the necessity of looking forward in our plans for more than the present time, that our successors may not have to undo the same because the foundation that may be laid by us is not of sufficient capacity. We ask your coöperation and help in anything that may appear to you or us for the benefit of the cemetery.

DANIEL CAMPBELL,
NEIL McLANE,
GEORGE A. WASON,
THOMAS R. COCHRAN,
SOLOMON D. ATWOOD,
Trustees of the New Boston Cemetery.
